

GREAT FUNERAL TENDERED LORD MAYOR OF CORK

Heart Rending Scenes Mark
Services For Terence
MacSwiney

CHURCH IS CROWDED

Thousands Attend Last
Rites For Man Who Gave Up Life.

London, Oct. 28.—Amidst heart rending scenes of emotion funeral services were conducted today at St.
George's Roman Catholic cathedral,
Southwark, for the late Terence Mac Swiney, lord mayor of Cork, who died in the 74th day of his hunger strike at Brixton jail.

Early in the morning numerous workers, mostly clerks, postal em ployes, telephone operators and tel egraphers who had visited the church for devotional services joined in a dirge for the repose of the soul of the dead patriot.

Crowds began to gather about the church long before the hour for the funeral service to begin. Guards lined the street. Inside the church the pews quickly filled. Sobs mingled with muffled exclamations of grief.
A dramatic incident occurred in the cathedral just before Archbishop Mannix, of Australia, opened the services. Four men who had made their way to the altar, threw off their long cloaks and stood before the catafalque attired in uniforms of the Sinn Fein army with swords in their belts.

The plain and simple coffin, draped with the Sinn Fein flag and lanked with flowers rested in state on a catafalque before the high al tar at the head of the church. It had been placed there by tender hands after the removal of the body from Brixton jail yesterday. A death watch kept guard over the body all night long, the watches be ing relieved at intervals of three hours.

More than 10,000 persons filed past the coffin before the doors of the cathedral closed at 10 o'clock.
Many men night workers, visited the church after midnight and, be ing unable to enter knelt in silent homage outside. Inside the cathed ral members of the MacSwiney fam ily sat through the night occupying mourners' benches facing the cat falque. The scene was one of tragic sombreness.

CONVICT GOODS ARE DISTRIBUTED BY DEMOCRATS, SAID

Cleveland, Oct. 28.—Wholesale dis tribution by State Auditor Vic Don ahy and by other Democratic officials in the present state administration,
among their friends and political fol lowers of merchandise manufactured by convicts in the Ohio penitentiary, in quantities valued at hundreds of thousands of dollars, was the charge made to an audience of several thou sand in his home city last evening
by Harry L. Davis.

Simultaneously Mr. Davis issued a challenge to his opponent and to the entire Democratic state administration to produce any evidence which would disprove his charges.

Characterizing the conditions as a
"plot of shame upon the fair name of Ohio," the authors of which, he said would be brought to book by the peo ple, Mr. Davis declared this traffic in prison-made goods to be one of the worst abuses by public officials in the history of the state.

He said he based his charges upon evidence of undisputable character—evidence which he declared would be turned over to an impartial commit tee on investigation as soon as such investigation is set on foot.

He further challenged the Demo cratic administration to allow im partial citizens of Ohio whose stand ing guarantees their findings, to conduct an unhampered investigation of con ditions in the Ohio penitentiary, so that "all the vile details of this rep rehensible practice on the part of trusted state officials may be revealed to their employes, the people of the state of Ohio."

LABOR TO OPEN BANK WITH BIG CAPITALIZATION

First Venture Of Kind In Entire World In Cleveland.

TO SERVE WORKERS

Known as Brotherhood Of Locomotive Engineers
National Bank.

Cleveland, O., Oct. 28.—Labor's
first bank will open its doors here Monday.

The bank will be known, as the Brotherhood Engineers co-operative national bank, and is capitalized at $1,000,000 with a surplus of $100,000, fully protected.

Its stockholders are members of the brotherhood exclusively, and all offi cers, except one vice president, who also acts as manager, are chosen from the officers of the brotherhood.

Despite the fact that dividends up on the stock are limited to ten per cent the stock has been oversubscrib ed by more than $300,000.

"What is the purpose of the bank?"
was asked of Warren S. Stone, vet eran president of the brotherhood of locomotive engineers and one of the most powerful and most respected leaders of labor in the United States.

"We shall seek to serve the cause of the working people," the leader of the engineers replied. "At our insti tution working people may obtain loans and invest their savings. In ad dition they will receive hearty co operation from officials and employees of the bank in their financial affairs."

"Why did you decide upon a nation charter for your institution?" Mr.
Stone was asked.

"Because of greater security afford ed under federal statutes," was the an swer. "Labor's enterprises must be absolutely sound."

The business of the bank will not be confined to members of the brother hood however. Far from it. It will do a general commercial and savings and trust business.

Banking by mail will be encouraged and an extensive foreign exchange business for immigrants will be under taken.

Labor's need of a financial institu tion which it owns and controls was pointed out in a prepared statement, which declared that while the work ingman draws $30,000,000,000 annually from employers for his labor he has no place to go to do his banking, as in the larger cities, at least, it was said, commercial banks do not care to accept his account.

The fact that laboring men must in many cases depend only upon the loan shark for a loan, while men en gaged in commercial pursuits can quickly turn their good name into ready money to meet immediate and pressing needs was also pointed out as one of the things which the new bank would seek to remedy.

Officers of the bank are: President, Warren S. Stone; vice president and cashier, W. B. Prenter, general secre tary-treasurer of the B. of L. E., vice president and general manager, W.
F. McClellan, formerly active vice chairman of the Dallas Federal Re serve bank. The officials of the broth erhood constitute the board of direc tors.

HARDING TAKES CLEVELAND BY STORM

SETTLEMENT IN COAL STRIKE IS FINALLY MADE

With Settlement of English Strike Believed Near Trouble Occurs

CAUSE IS SECRET

Belief Expressed That Break is Result Of Profits Division

London, Oct. 28.—The coal strike has been definitely an nounced this afternoon. The of ficial announcement was made subsequent to a meeting of the cabinet and a conference between representatives of the government and the striking coal miners.

London, Oct. 28.—A last minute hitch over terms has threatened to wreck the coal peace just as the public had begun to believe that the strike was rapidly nearing its end.

Premier Lloyd George and the cabi net met during the morning to con sider the situation previous to a new conference between representatives of the government and the federation of miners.

The cause of the sudden block had been a secret but the Daily News re veals that it arose over a proposal by the government to share with the mine owners and the workers the profits arising out of excess produc tion beyond the normal standard. The government puts its plan in the form of a "sliding scale" of excess profits.

The South Wales miners, according to the Daily Express demand the right to formulate new demands if the standard of production is exceeded during the provisional period prior to the establishment of a new wage board. The Welsh miners also de manded liberty of action to strike to enforce any demand they make make.
The position of the government, ac cording to the Daily Express, is that such a settlement would be useless with the threat of a strike in the back ground.

FIGHT OVER CONTROL OF LARGE ESTATE STARTED IN SUIT

Former Chauffeur Now
Trustee Of Two Millions
Is Defendant.

Chicago, Oct. 28.—A prolonged and bitter fight for the control of millions loomed today as the result of a suit
began by Mrs. Augusta J. Glenden ning to oust her former chauffeur, Thomas Davis, as trustee of the $2,440,000 estate of Robert Glenden ning, her husband.

Mrs. Glendenning declares her husband, taken to a sanitarium under the influence of the chauffeur, died mysteriously. She charges that she herself was kidnapped, pronounced in sane and shut up in a mad house in Wisconsin.

The widow also has filed suit for $100,000 against Davis and others
she alleges aided him to have her confined in an asylum.

Davis, although employed as a chauffeur, is said to be a distant re lative of Glendenning's and it is for this reason that he was made a trust ee of the estate, the widow asserts.
The former chauffeur, denying Mrs.
Glendenning's charges, declares that she has been influenced by religious workers who seek to have her control her husband's millions so that charitable institutions in which they are interested may benefit.

Glendenning was head of a patent roofing company. He died in a san itarium here last February.

Mrs. Glendenning and her children are enroute to Florida where they will spend the winter.

ELECTION OFFICIALS FORCED TO SERVE

J. M. Fletcher, chief of the Board of Elections, points out that poll officials selected by the board, must serve under the penalty of the law.

The position of election official,
either judge or clerk is an important one and there is a penalty provided by the law for tardiness or laxity in duty in that respect. The appoint ment to serve at the polls is manda tory and has the same authority as a court summons.

Women newly appointed as election
officials, must realize the seriousness of being at the polls on time, accord ing to Mr. Fletcher.

Dublin, Oct. 27.—While troops pa trolled the neighboring streets auxil iary police (Black and Tans) raided the Branch Munsterbank early today. The accounts of the municipality of Dub lin are kept in this institution. Ex terns examined the books for several hours, while the soldiers and police kept guard.

FOREIGN AGENTS AT WORK IN AMERICA TO RETARD PROGRESS OF MERCHANT MARINE

Well Defined Plan Alleged to Discredit Shipping
Board and Its Work Unearthed Declares
High Official.

Washington, Oct. 28.—Foreign agents are at work in the United States in an attempt to retard the progress of the American merchant marine, according to information obtained today from the United States Shipping Board.

"The shipping board is in posses sion of very definite information that foreign agents are again at work in this country in an attempt to retard the progress of the Ameri can merchant marine," one high official of the shipping board stat ed.

It is charged by officials of the board that reports to the effect that the house committee on merchant marine has completed a report showing a huge graft and irregular ities in the shipping board are part of a plan of the foreign agents to discredit the shipping board and its work. It was stated at the offices of the house merchant marine com mittee that the committee has not drafted its report and that chairman Walsh has refused to make any pre liminary statement as to the possi ble findings.

It was stated that a report has been drawn by experts employed by the committee showing the result of their investigation but that this re port has not been submitted and will not be acted upon until late in No vember. Furthermore it was stated that the report of the experts will be an attempt to aid the shipping board and will not be an expose of irregularities by individuals.

Thursday Evening
At Akron.

Cleveland, O., Oct. 28.—Decla ring that he "had no recollection of ever giving any sort of a let ter" to Washington D. Vanderlip, whose alleged activities in Rus sia have been linked by state de partment and news reports with the Republican presidential can didate's name, Senator Warren G. Harding today issued a further statement denying any connection with Vanderlip's activities.

Senator Harding also issued a statement today declaring that as a newspaper publisher he had endeavored to persuade Harvey's Weekly not to publish the Reid cartoon portraying Gov. Cox in the difficult task of trying to hang a portrait of Uncle Sam
"with the heart of the covenant."
Certain religious bodies have taken offense at the cartoon.

Cleveland, O., Oct. 28.—Senato r Warren G. Harding, Republican presi dential candidate, who has begun tel ling Ohio audiences that "very likely he will be their next president, motored to a country club this morning for a round of golf before leaving for Akron.

Senator Harding was greatly pleas ed with the magnitude his Cleveland reception. After witnessing the great est torchlight and red fire parade of Republican men and women of the present campaign, the senator, who felt that his prepared address for Cleveland did not quite do justice to the occasion, forensically and argu mentatively spread himself over a wide field, giving Cleveland his con ception of what America should be in politics, government, foreign pol icy and much else. The audience hung on to every syllable.

It was especially interested in his statement that he had brought Sena tor Hiram Johnson and ex-President Taft closer together than they had been on the league issue and that he had, he believed, rendered a service to America, if not the world, in making the two league factions in the Repub lican party more open to reason. But he made it clear he did not ask any sen ator to accept the ideas of a president on such an issue—that he believed in independent judgment by senators or such men.

Never before had Senator Harding had so many questions put to him from the audience. He took great pains to answer each questioner fully and in spite of efforts of Mayor Fitz gerald and a couple of policemen at stage to shake out a socialist ques tioner. The senator kept the situa tion in his own hands and wouldn't permit ejection.

In his Cleveland speeches, Sena tor Harding, who shed the dignified pose after completion of his prepared address and warmed up to his audi ence like an evangelist extorter, so as make himself perfectly clear to all, emphasized his policies of party gov ernment as opposed to personal gov ernment, Americanism, nationalism, as against internationalism, ample protection of the American citizen on "lawful business" abroad although he declared he was not going abroad himself—and a league of na tions program upon which all America can unite and help make effective.

LEAKS IN WATER PIPES PREVENTED BY SYSTEM OF WIRES

The installation of a number of bond wires between water service lines and the street car track, is expected to prevent electrolysis, which has been especially evident near the intersection at Main and Detroit streets, and which has made repair of the water pipes necessary, frequently.

Electrolysis results, it is said, from a leakage due to a poor circuit in the rails, and the electricity jumps to the lead or galvanized service lines, following the water lines as far as it can and then jumping back to the track. Where the electricity leaves the water line it takes part of the metal with it, which is either deposited in the ground or on the rail. The result is that the water pipe is gradually eaten away, and sections taken up by the city water works department have appeared to have been eaten or chewed, the hole growing until it causes a leak.

The number of water breaks thus caused, and the repairs resulting, now amount to about $600, which is being charged against the Dayton, Springfield and Xenia Southern Railway, because it is the electric power from this company that causes the damage.

Following repeated efforts on the part of City Manager Riddle, the traction company is now making arrangements to remedy this condition, and avoid electrolysis in the future, by completing the circuit between the water pipe and track with a metallic line. Six of these lines or bonds are now being placed along the outer edge of the affected area, and will carry the electricity from the pipe to the rails without affecting the former.

As proof that the power from the traction company is causing the electrolysis, the bonds when fastened to the water pipe will cause a spark to leap from the rail to the free end before being attacked. The regular water mains are not affected by this electrolysis, as they are asphalt coated and are non-conductors, only the service lines, which are lead or galvanized iron, being affected by the stray current.

The traction company is also being required to run its negative return wire from King street, where it stops at present, up to Detroit street. This is the collecting wire, and it will add in taking care of the stray current at the street intersection where the electrolysis has seemed to be worse. Employees of the city water works department have had to tear up the street several times this summer repairing breaks in practically new pipe, due to the stray current.

NATIONAL TICKET WILL BE COUNTED FIRST ON TUESDAY

The national ticket will be counted in Greene County first, on election night, next Tuesday, according to Paul H. Cresswell, secretary of the Greene County Board of Elections.

It was planned to count the judicial ticket first, but orders from the Secretary of State have directed that the national ticket be given attention first.

It was urged at the start that the judicial ballot be counted first in order to determine the winner of the local fight for Common Pleas Judge. The fight for the bench, between the incumbent, Judge C. H. Kyle, and Attorney R. L. Gowdy, promises to be the warmest local fight in the county on election day and much interest is being manifested in securing an early return on this race.

Nervous Breakdown

"I am so nervous it seems as though I should fly"—"My nerves are all on edge"—"I wish I were dead." How often have we heard these expressions or others quite as extravagant from some loved one who has been brought to this state by some female trouble which has slowly developed until the nerves can no longer stand up under it. No woman should allow herself to drift into this condition without giving that good old-fashioned root and herb remedy Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial.

Read the Letters of These Two Women.

North East, Md.—"I was in ill health four or five years and doctored with one doctor after another but none helped me. I was irregular and had such terrible pain in my back, lower part of my body and down each side that I had to go to bed three or four days every month. I was very nervous, tired, could not sleep and could not eat without getting sick. A friend asked me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I am sorry I did not take it sooner for it has helped me wonderfully. I don't have to go to bed with the pain, can eat without being sick and have more strength. I recommend your medicine and you are at liberty to publish my testimonial."

ELIZABETH WEAVER, R. R. 2, North East, Md.

Minneapolis, Minn.—"I was run down and nervous, could not rest at night and was more tired in the morning than when I went to bed. I have two children, the youngest three months old and it was drudgery to care for them as I felt so irritable and generally worn out. From lack of rest and appetite my baby did not get enough nourishment from my milk so I started to give him two bottle feedings a day. After taking three bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I felt like a new woman, full of life and energy. It is a pleasure to care for my children, and I am very happy with them and feel fine. I nurse my baby exclusively again, and can't say too much for your medicine."

WOMEN SHOULD VOTE BETWEEN 8 AND 3 DECLARES BOARD

The Greene County Board of Elections is attempting to impress upon the newly enfranchised women voters, their request that the women vote between the hours of eight o'clock in the morning and three o'clock in the afternoon.

There have been no more products added, and because of the great number of voters at this election, the women are requested to cast their ballots in these hours, in order to be away from the polls at the time the working men must have opportunity to vote.

The women also should get sample ballots, and familiarize themselves with the tickets so that they will be ready to vote with as little delay as possible and get out of the polls. The Board requests that there be no conversation with clerks or judges, in order to speed up action in getting, everybody voted.

Xenia voters will have six tickets handed them when they enter the polls next Tuesday. The ballots are the national ticket, the state and county ticket, the judicial ticket, the Crabbe referendum, the one mill levy for a police and fireman's pension fund, and the three mill levy for Xenia city school district.

The board points out that the precinct lines have not been changed, despite the extension of the corporate limits and voters will cast their ballots where they have been used to.

THE DEMOCRATS A "DIVIDED HOUSE" ON THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS.

After Governor Cox's celebrated visit to the White House, when, it will be remembered, Mr. Wilson announced that he and Cox "are as one" on the League, for weeks in his canvass, Mr. Cox "kept the faith" faithfully, but of late the pressure has been so great that he has finally come down a peg on the "reservations" point. He wobbles.

At Music Hall in Cincinnati, Tuesday night, the Enquirer reports: "With an eloquence that thrilled the assemblage Governor Cox pleaded for America to keep the faith, perform a solemn duty and maintain inviolate the honor of the Stars and Stripes. Again the Governor declared his willingness to accept such reservations to the league as necessary to clarify it, and make definite the duties and obligations of the United States toward other nations in the league."

Now isn't that remarkable, when the President stands as a stonewall for Article 10, claiming it to be "the pith" of the League, and wouldn't budge an inch, last winter, when thousands were appealing to him to do so, and yet his candidate for the Presidency now talks "reservations." A house divided against itself.

And further, some of the President's Southern friends appear to be going back on him. "Unalterable opposition" to the League of Nations is expressed in the platform adopted today by the Georgia State Democratic Convention, and the state's Senators are instructed to vote against the covenant.

The platform did not indorse the Wilson Administration, and mentioned the President's name only incidentally.

"We hereby declare our unalterable opposition to the League of Nations brought back by President Wilson from Versailles," read the opening paragraph of the platform. Georgia's Senators are instructed to vote against the league in the following language:

"Whereas, The people have thrice this year expressed their disapproval of the League of Nations, we instruct our Senators in Congress to vote against its adoption."

Can a divided house stand? We doubt it. It is a house built on sand. Already it "wobbles."

HEART AND HOME PROBLEMS

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a young married man twenty-seven years of age. I have been married six years and have had a very unhappy married life. We have one child three years old.

I have tried in every way to get along with my wife and I cannot. We have lived with her mother ever since we were married, and her mother puts her up to aggravate me in every way possible. She will not leave her mother's and live with me. I have always been good to her. Would you advise me to get a divorce or to try to live with her?

ANXIOUS.

It may be a question of choosing between an unhappy life with your wife or giving up your child. Talk the matter over with a lawyer and see what chance he thinks you have in obtaining custody of the child if you divorce your wife. Besides this, could you give the child as many advantages as it is having in the home of its mother and grandparents?

Or save money for a home so that you can provide something which may tempt your wife away from the home of her parents. When you have enough to make a purchase tell your wife to look around and see what she would like. She is an extraordinary woman if she will not be won over by the possibility of having her own little home and furnishing it.

Your wife is decidedly in the wrong. She had no right to marry you if she did not expect to go to a home you would provide for her. There is nothing more deadly to marital happiness than living in the home of parents, unless conditions are exceptionally harmonious. It seems to me, however, that your love for the child will have to settle the question for you. The matter can probably be arranged so that you can have the child part of the time if you decide upon divorce.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl of twenty-one and I correspond with a young man of my age. I have gone with him about two years. When I go with other fellows he always asks to come back, and he said if I wouldn't take him back he would join the navy. In fact, he did join the navy. He would never come up to get me unless I wrote him to come or I would be angry.

When he would see me downtown and I was talking to other fellows he followed me and brought me home.

He has asked me to marry him when he comes from the navy, but he did not give me a ring. He has been in the navy for over a year, but since he got home he acts so different. He goes out with other girls, but he doesn't want me to go with other fellows.

What shall I do?

E. GRAY EYES.

Tell the boy plainly that you do not belong to him and you will act in the way you see fit, and not as he might want to have you. Go with other boys and leave him strictly alone. You should not write to him and ask him to come to see you or to take you somewhere. It is the boy's privilege to ask the girl.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I was married fourteen years ago to a man who had been divorced eighteen months. We were married in another state, but he was divorced in Illinois. Now I have been told by a minister that we are not legally married because he was not divorced two years. Please let me know if this is true.

WORRIED MOTHER.

I should say with certainty that you are married. Some time, however, ask the question of a lawyer or at a marriage license desk.

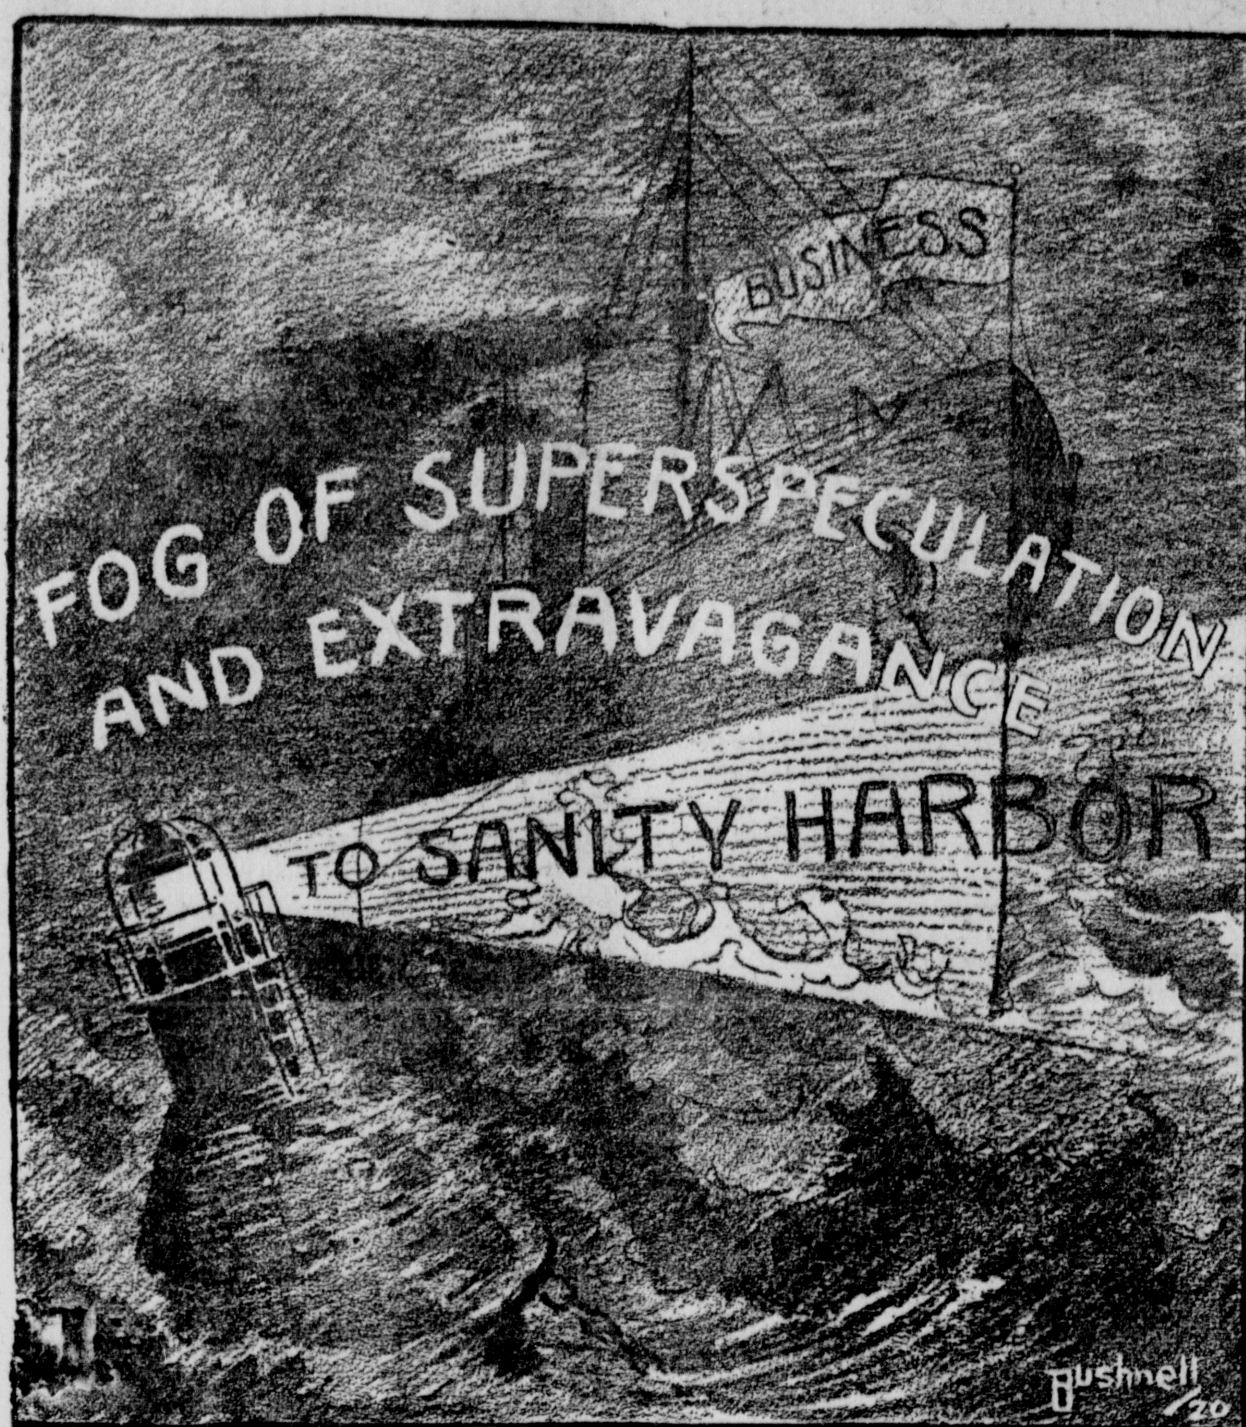

HEAD OF HUMANITARIAN CULT AND WIFE TAKE DEADLY POISON POTION BY MISTAKE

Mischa Appelbaum, founder and head of the Humanitarian cult, and his wife, formerly Helen Yorke, a concert singer, are now fighting for their lives in a New York hospital against poisonous tablets taken by mistake. The couple were married last April after a thirteen-day courtship. Appelbaum, besides being head of the cult, is president of a corporation dealing in precious metals. He was wealthy before forming the cult, but has stated that he has spent half a million dollars promoting the organization.

OUTLINES DUTY OF U. S. BEFORE GREAT THROG

expanded tonight at Akron, Senator Harding said:

"I will never present to the senate a league covenant with article ten in it or one which does not uphold the Monroe doctrine."

He also declared the women as well as men would be invited to help frame an international document designed to bring justice and a reawakened conscience into the world's affairs.

To a negro questioner who wanted to know the candidate's stand on mob law and lynching of negroes, Senator Harding said:

"I believe in a government unafraid in a government that justly and righteously protects every human being under the American flag."

Answering a socialist questioner, Harding said: "I do not believe you can socialize the world. I do not believe that you can bring the nations to a common order. But I am willing to standize the world when all other nations will come up to the American standard."

"But I am glad we have the leaven of socialists in America, for a republic will never endure that is not intelligent in its politics and usually you will find that a socialist knows a good deal of what he is talking about. I have no patience myself with the socialist theory."

Senator Harding, estimating himself, said he "didn't claim a place with the outstanding heroes of America."

"But let me tell you, my countrymen," he said, "I am just an ordinary, patriotic fellow-American who believes that it is the business of congress to enact the laws."

"When I'm president, congress is going to function again. We are going to have the old reactionary party of congress enacting the laws and the president enforcing them, and that will be a tribute to our founding fathers at least."

"And I promise you that if there is a disagreement between congress and the executives we will bring our quarrel to you, because this is your government and it is for you to decide."

JUNIOR RED CROSS TO BE ESTABLISHED IN COUNTY SCHOOLS

Mrs. W. O. Cusick assisted by County Superintendent of Schools H. C. Aultman has directed the establishment of a chapter of a Junior Red Cross in the schools of Greene County. The school children have entered a contest in connection with the work to gain a membership of 100 per cent in the individual rooms of the schools, and the Red Cross will award, to the first room securing the quota before January 1st, a year's subscription to the Red Cross magazine. All after that time will be awarded 45 cents.

The purpose of the establishment of the Junior Red Cross is to encourage friendship between the children of the devastated Allied countries and the American children. Correspondence will be carried on between the children of the different countries and the name of the foreign child being helped will be given to the American one and the special work, such as the domestic science and manual training being done, will be directed toward the foreign child whose name is held.

The American schools have practically taken the responsibility of encouraging this type of work in the foreign countries since the war and establishment of a local branch of the Junior chapter of the Red Cross will be of great benefit, say the local Red Cross officials.

BIG FIGHT WILL GO TO HAVANA, SAID

New York, Oct. 28.—The big fight goes to Havana.

This is the story of Promoters Rickard, Cochran and Brady, who are about to sign Jack Dempsey and Georges Carpentier, and they are sticking to it.

Some of the second guessers, however, are calculating that the Havana angle is somewhat of a myth and that in the end the fight will be staged right here in New York as originally intended and where it is sure the attraction would draw a million dollars.

The sudden switch to Havana is somewhat of a surprise. The promoters got together late Wednesday to consider articles and make arrangements to pacify Jack Kearns who objected to the phraseology of the contract in some spots. This little matter was attended to promptly and Kearns is now ready to autograph the documents at any time and place named by Messrs. Rickard, Brady and Cochran.

Another possible reason for the sudden switch may lie with the New York state boxing commission. The commission has not been partial to heavyweight attractions and it is just possible that the boxing body informed the promoters that they would save time and trouble by making plans to stage the world's heavyweight championship somewhere else. There is no direct evidence that this was the case, but it is possible.

The time and place for signing the articles of agreement probably will be set by the promoters today. Carpentier and Descamps are eager to sign and get it over with Dempsey and Kearns are ready, now that objectionable clauses in the articles have been revamped.

BODY OF SOLDIER TO BE BURIED HERE

The body of Corporal John D. Puckett, former Xenian boy, and a son of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Puckett, 723 Carlisle avenue, Dayton, who was killed in France, has arrived at New York and will be brought to this city for burial.

Corporal Puckett and Clarence Chick, a Dayton boy, lost their lives together on August 27, 1918, when a gun exploded during practice. Corporal Puckett lived in this city until eight or nine years ago, when the family moved to Dayton, where they have since made their home.

Corporal Puckett was only 20 years of age when he met his death. He is survived by his parents, and three brothers, Russell, Earl and Roy, and a sister, Mrs. Homer Chambliss, of Dayton. Mr. Chambliss also being formerly of this city.

No word has been received here as to when the body will arrive in this city. Burial will be made in the family lot in Woodland Cemetery.

PLANS COMPANY TO MANUFACTURE NEW TROLLEY DEVICE

A new company, incorporated with a capital stock of $10,000 and planning establishment in Xenia, has been formed to manufacture a "trolley guard," a device for holding car trolleys on the wire, invented by Robert C. Dickerson, colored, of Columbus street, this city.

Mr. Dickerson has had his invention protected by patents, after working on the device for some time. While in Akron recently, he secured Akron capital back of his company, and it is understood that Akron men are among the incorporators of the new company.

The device, which has been on display in the window of the Johnson barber shop, is claimed to have a great field, and its manufacture on a large scale, is prophesied of its future. Mr. Dickerson is now promoting the sale of stock in the company with the view of locating his plant in this city and he now claims to have an option on a site here.

The inventor says that he refused an offer of $50,000 for his patent rights on the device by Akron parties and he will attempt to place the instrument on the market himself.

Home-made, but Has No Equal for Coughs

Makes a family supply of really dependable cough medicine. Easily prepared, and saves about $2.

If you have a severe cough or chest cold accompanied with soreness, throat tickle, hoarseness, or difficult breathing, or if your child wakes up during the night with cough and you want quick help, try this reliable old home-made cough remedy. Any druggist can supply you with 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup, if desired. This recipe makes a pint of really remarkable cough remedy. It tastes good, and in spite of its low cost, it can be depended upon to give quick and lasting relief.

You can feel this take hold of a cough in a way that means business. It loosens and raises the phlegm, stops throat tickle and soothes and heals the irritated membranes that line the throat and bronchial tubes with such promptness, ease and certainty that it is really astonishing.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and is probably the best known means of overcoming severe coughs, throat and chest colds.

There are many worthless imitations of this mixture. To avoid disappointment, ask for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Why do you use creamery butter?

TO enjoy its delicious taste and assured wholesomeness. But you do not have to pay the creamery butter price to secure these creamery butter qualities. Golmar—a strictly vegetable product at a much lower cost—will give you the same satisfaction.

Golmar tastes exactly like the freshest creamery butter. It is as good on the table or in cooking. It is delicious, wholesome and pure. It has every body building element found in creamery butter.

It is just as delightful to use as the best creamery butter you ever secured. Your family will like it as well—your husband will not notice any difference. He'll "brag about the butter" when you serve Golmar as he does now when you get a pound of unusually fresh creamery butter.

Golmar is churned fresh daily and stays fresh amply long enough for a small family to use a pound. Golmar costs you less than creamery butter, because Golmar is made of rich, pure coconut oils instead of expensive dairy products.

Get a package of Golmar from your dealer today. Try it according to the test at the left. Your money back if you are not entirely satisfied.

The Famous Golmar Test Example No. 13 Golmar on Rolls

PLACE a pat of Golmar and one of fresh creamery butter side by side. Spread one half of a roll with Golmar and the other with the creamery butter. Take a bite of one and then a bite of the other. We challenge you to tell which is Golmar. Golmar is the equal of and is equalled only by fresh creamery butter.

The same coloring matter used in creamery butter is supplied with Golmar so you can color it at home and save the tax of 10 cents per pound which the Government would collect if Golmar were colored by the makers.

INCREASE IN STREET ASSESSMENT WILL BE EFFECTED SOON

An increase in street assessments to pay for street cleaning, due to the abolishment of the work house and the loss of the free labor here, which kept the assessment down, will be necessary from now on, according to City Manager Kenyon Riddle.

According to Mr. Riddle the method of assessing the cost of street cleaning against the benefit district, has been in force since 1918, but the cost this year will be greater than the previous two years because there is now no free labor available from work house prisoners.

During the previous two years, the work house prisoners were used to good advantage in the street cleaning department, the use of this kind of labor reducing the cost of the street cleaning. In 1919, it is pointed out by the Manager, work house labor totaled 1439 days in the street cleaning department. This meant an actual cost to the city of $1287, based on a wage of $2.40 a day. The actual value of the work was $3,453.60, which shows that the city received $2116.60 worth of free labor.

This year, with the abandonment of the work house, the city will have to pay for all the labor in street cleaning. The total costs, in 1918 and 1919 for labor, teams and interest, including all expenses, was but $3,600 a year, and approximately $2,800 a year was paid by special assessment against the benefit district and the balance by the city at large.

In 1920, with the city paying full time for free labor, the costs are estimated as follows:

One team, full time at $5 a day $1,825.00
One team, half time at $5 a day

Four men, full time, at $3.30 a day each $488.00
Interest, legal advertising, etc. $500.00
Total $8,055.00

The costs of street cleaning will run higher this year than the two years previous, not only because of the loss of prison labor but also because of the additional paving, which 000 will be raised in this way, the balance of $2,000 of the cost to be paid by the city at large.

The assessment rate necessarily has to be increased, because of this extra cost, explains the Manager, and $6,000 will be raised in this way, the balance $2,000 of the cost to be paid by the city at large.

Every druggist in this county is authorized to say to every rheumatic sufferer that of two bottles of Allenru, the sure conqueror of rheumatism, does not stop all agony, reduce swollen joints and do away with even the slightest twinge of rheumatic pain, he will gladly return your money without comment.

Mr. James H. Allen, the discoverer of Allenru, who for many years suffered the torments of acute rheumatism, desires all sufferers to know that he does not want a cent of anyone's money unless Allenru decisively conquers this worst of all diseases and he has instructed Sayre & Hemphill to guarantee it in every instance.

EVERY WOMAN SHOULD TAKE A STRENGTHENING TONIC NOW

Nerv-Worth Is One Of The Best Tonics For Strengthening The System That You Could Choose. Read The Letter Below, Telling How Mrs. Zinc Gained 25 Pounds in Weight.

"At the time I started to take Nerv-Worth," said Mrs. Anna Zinc, Dresden Ave., East Liverpool, Ohio, "I weighed only 98 pounds. My stomach and liver were upset and I had been down in bed for 8 weeks. Two weeks after I started to take Nerv-Worth, I was able to go away on a trip. I can now eat anything and digest it and I sleep well at night, and my weight is now 120 pounds, making a gain of 25 pounds." There are many women, particularly at this time of the year, who are not feeling as they should. Their vitality is low, they are constantly tired out, and they wear a haggard look on their face. To women in that condition, changeable weather with its numerous ills is a dangerous period, for their weakened condition makes them easy prey to disease. Tone your system up now. Proof that Nerv-Worth quickly does work is found in Mrs. Zinc's letter, and her letter is but one of thousands. Be sure that you choose Nerv-Worth for your fall tonic, and you will be glad that you did make this choice, because Nerv-Worth gives results and that is what you want. Remember if your first trial bottle is not satisfactory, your money will be refunded. In the large round bottle, price $1.25. Sold by Sayre & Hemphill and all leading druggists everywhere.

FAIRFIELD-OSBORN FIGHT CONTINUED: HEARING FRIDAY

The fight between the villages of Osborn and Fairfield in Greene County, which are both trying to annex the same territory, will be resumed Friday morning, when the Fairfield petition to annex the territory will be given a hearing before the County Commissioners.

At the time that the Miami Conservancy District absorbed that territory on which Osborn is now situated, and necessitated the removal of the Big Four and the Erie Railroads from that city to a point further away from the flood prevention region, Osborn decided to annex certain territory along the new right of way and move the village to that point.

An Osborn Removal Company was formed and the village has bids from a company for the removal of the village in its entirety to the new site. In order to retain its incorporation the village proposed to annex territory for a new site along the railroad right of way and also a strip of land 200 feet wide from the old site to the proposed site, over which the village will be moved.

Immediately upon action of Osborn, the village of Fairfield, which is closer to the new railroad right of way, and which lies directly on the traction right of way, also began efforts to annex the same territory, alleging that if Osborn moves to the new site it will absorb Fairfield and that village will lose its identity. The Osborn petition to annex the territory has already been heard and the Fairfield petition will be given its hearing Friday morning at nine o'clock.

There is much interest stirred up over the fight between the two villages, especially and the removal project planned for Osborn, will be one of the biggest undertakings ever attempted.

AUTOMOBILE CLUB FOR GREENE COUNTY TO BE ORGANIZED

The proposed Greene County Automobile club which has been selected as one plank in the platform of work laid out for the Chamber of Commerce this year, will be started soon with the formation of a committee to handle that project.

A special meeting of this committee will be held at the Chamber of Commerce Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock, the purpose of which is to consider the advisability of the organization of an auto club in the near future and to go into detail in regard to the advantages of such a club in Greene County.

ALASKAN FLYERS RETURN

LIEUT. C. E. CRUMRINE, IN.

Making American aviation history, five United States Army aviators recently arrived at Catfish Field, Mineola, L. I., from Nome, Alaska. The aviators in four De Havilland machines left Mitchell Field on July 5 for Nome. The flight to Nome and return was made without serious accident. The aviators covered the 9,000 mile journey in 110 flying hours. The flight is the longest in the history of American aviation. The photograph shows Lieutenant C. E. Crumrine with his Alaskan dog "Wolf," which he brought with him from Nome. Lieutenant Crumrine later presented the dog to Mrs. A. R. Christie, wife of Major Christie, commander of the field.

DIPHTHERIA REPORTED IN PORT WILLIAM

It has been reported and verified from Port William that several cases of diphtheria are found in the village and that several cases have also been found in other parts of the county. Dr. Grube, Greene County Health officer, announces that not a single case of this disease or any other contagious one, is to be found in Greene County.

Every precaution is being taken in Port William to prevent the spread of the disease. Instructions have been given by physicians here to take the greatest precautions of a patient suffering from sore throat and other symptoms of the malady.

RECEIVE MONEY FOR SUBSCRIPTIONS

Several thousand dollars worth of stock subscribed in the Xenia Country Club have been paid for so far, according to Secretary L. C. Tingley.

It is urged by officers of the Country Club that members who have subscribed for stock pay for the stock at once, in order that the officers can go ahead with plans for fixing up the site. The House committee, of which D. W. Cherry, is chairman, is now making arrangements for the improvement of the club house and other work that makes it necessary that stock must be paid for at once.

DECISION GIVEN DARLINGTON IN CASE

Through an error in the account, of the decision of the Court of Appeals in the case of C. L. Darlington against the P. C. C. & St. L. Railway Company, it was stated in yesterday's issue that the case was originally decided in favor of the railroad.

The facts are, that the case, which concerned a right of way, was decided originally in favor of the plaintiff, Mr. Darlington, and the decision rendered this week by the Appellate Court was merely an adherence to its former judgment in the case.

TELEPHONE INCREASE PLAN ORIGINATED AT MAIN OFFICE OF CO.

That raises in telephone rental are put in effect by company officials at the main office, who have overhead expenses at each exchange at hand, is the statement of H. W. Cleaver, manager of the local branch of the Central Union Telephone Company, when interviewed regarding the proposed increase in this city and the subsequent action on the part of the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce and the City Commission, in filing protests against the new rate with the State Public Utilities Commission.

Mr. Cleaver declared that he did not know of the proposed increase until he received orders from company officials to have published, statements on the proposed new rates. He said that while he is in touch with overhead of the local branch and its income, that he was not acquainted with the price paid for materials, which are purchased by the main office, and which evidently actuated the move of officials to ask the Public Utilities Commission for permission to raise the rental rate here.

The results of questionnaires from nine cities out of 28 from whom information was requested by the Chamber of Commerce, were given to Mr. Cleaver for his inspection. He was able to offer no reason why the rates in most of the cities, from whom answers were received, were less than in Xenia, but stated that the price of rental is based on local conditions, and is dependent in a great measure on the number of telephones in service, and the amount of the overhead.

The nine cities whose answers have been received at the Chamber of Commerce are Middletown, Troy, Marietta, Portsmouth, Kenton, Bucyrus, Lebanon, Wooster, and Chillicothe. The rates in all of these cities, with the exception of the residence telephone rates in Lebanon, are lower than those now in effect in Xenia, and all are lower than the new rate asked for this city. According to Mr. Cleaver, Lebanon does not have near as many telephones installed as does this city, although its business telephone rate is much lower. The number of telephones in use at any exchange has in a great measure much to do with the price of rental, because in a community of few rentals, the overhead is just as high and the income not as great, Mr. Cleaver pointed out.

Mr. Cleaver said Wednesday that he does not expect the Central Union Telephone Company to attempt to answer or explain company's position in this city, because of the action of the business men, Chamber of Commerce and City Commission. It is the opinion of the local manager that the company will explain its reasons for asking for the increase, only when it is requested to do so at the hearing on the protests before the Utilities Commission.

W. C. Newton, commercial agent of the Central Union Telephone Company was the official who visited this city last spring and conferred with Secretary L. C. Tingley of the Chamber of Commerce and a committee appointed by him in regard to the increase which went into effect last May 1. Mr. Cleaver said that Mr. Newton at that time, did not promise that there would not be another increase asked for in the near future, but said that he "hoped" that such a situation would not be necessary.

The proposed increases now before the Utilities Commission are for a 50 cent raise on one party business line, a 25 cent raise on the rental of two party business lines and an increase of $1.50 on the trunk line rate. The company asks that the increases become effective Nov. 1.

ELECTION SUPPLIES FOR EACH PRECINCT PACKED IN CASES

In the Board of Elections room at the Court House, 32 neat, black suit cases are almost completely filled with election supplies to go to the precincts of the county for the election next Tuesday.

In the neat, black suit cases, each labelled with the name of the precinct, for which it is intended, Clerk Paul H. Cresswell of the Election Board has placed the numerous supplies that must be delivered to each of the voting places in the county. In fact all the supplies are in the poll supply cases, with the exception of the ballots and there will be so many more needed this year, that it is possible that they will have to be delivered outside of the cases. The cases will be delivered to the election judges Saturday.

The list of supplies in the cases are as follows: Ballots, Poll books, and ballot supplies, Seal, Books of Election Laws, Seven ballot pencils, Five Clerks, pencils, Five pen points, Five pen holders, Two flags, One pay roll blank, Filing pins, Six cards of instructions, Extra poll books.

The election board will receive the ballots, the poll books, the seal and of course the pay roll blank, back. According to election officials, the

419 Eggs From 20 Hens In 30 Days

Mr. Dougherty Got This Result in October. Plan is Easily Tried.

"I tried Don Sung and the results were far past my expectations. I got 419 eggs in 30 days from 20 hens while moulting. I think this is wonderful, as they hardly laid at all before."—Frank Dougherty, 5940 E. 11th St., Indianapolis.

Mr. Dougherty bought $1 worth of Don Sung in October and wrote this letter in November. Figure his profit on 35 dozen eggs from hens that formerly laid little or nothing.

This may sound too good to be true, but it costs nothing to find out. We'll make you the same offer we made him. Give your hens Don Sung and watch results for one month. If you don't find that it pays for itself and pays you a good profit besides, simply tell us and your money will be cheerfully refunded.

Don Sung (Chinese for egg-laying) is a scientific tonic and conditioner. It is easily given in the feed, improves the hen's health and makes her stronger and more active. It tones up the egg-laying organs, and gets the eggs, no matter how cold or wet the weather.

Don Sung can be obtained promptly from your druggist or poultry remedy dealer, or send $1.04 (includes war tax) for a package by mail prepaid. Burrell-Dugger Co., 214 Columbia Bldg., Indianapolis, Ind.

WARREN G. HARDING Your Kind of Man and—

The Next President of the United States

The Next President.

As certain as anything can be, in this world, is the election of Senator Harding.

To readers of this newspaper, the many family groups to which it comes a regular welcome visitor, Senator Harding's face shines as that of a friend.

Senator Harding, your next President, is your kind of man. You see him, hear a few words, and you know it.

He was born in a small town, has lived there all his life, lives there now, and will live there again when he leaves the White House with his work for the country done.

How He Lives.

He lives as you live, simply, in the old fashioned American way.

The main residence street in any little American town, boasts half a dozen homes more elaborate than Senator Harding's, and many as good.

Millions of men, believing in this country, devoted to its government, SATISFIED with the UNITED STATES, believe that the United States is able to deal with its own problems, and settle its own questions free from outside assistance or interference.

Those millions of men are men of the same sort as Senator Harding.

What Kind of Man.

Harding is a big American in physical size, thanks to vigorous farming ancestors. He is a big American also in heart, in understanding, in sympathy and in simplicity.

You read his speeches and know that he does not imagine himself created to tell all the world what to do. He believes in, and he understands the American people, his friends, the citizens of his own little town, Marion, Ohio, and the dwellers in thousands of other towns like it.

Your Servant, No Autocrat.

After you have elected him, you will find in Senator Harding an earnest, conscientious, straight thinking servant of the people, not an autocrat, but a man respecting the traditions of American government, and the Constitution of the United States.

Senator Harding understands that the people will elect him to be President of the United States, not President of the whole world. He will know that he is employed by the PEOPLE of this country to look after the interests of THIS country.

Born on a farm, living all his life close to farmers, he knows and sympathizes with the problems of the farm. Living in the average American way, in the average American small town, he knows the problems of the average American. He understands the printers he employs, and he knows their trade and sets type as they do.

His Ambition.

Senator Harding has no ambition to be called a political superman, or RULER of America. It is his ambition to be known as a good American, a faithful servant of those that trust him.

National politics are discussed this year less than at any election since the republic was founded. Why? Because men do not discuss, to any great extent, that which is DEFINITELY SETTLED.

And this national election is definitely settled as you read this. YOU know it.

But it is important that demonstration of the popular will should be of the most overwhelming kind. Therefore the good citizen will do what he can to increase the vote for Harding, should there be any doubtful votes within reach of his voice.

It is almost ludicrously difficult to find a man or woman that intends to vote the Democratic ticket this year.

But if you do find one, show him or her this picture of the next President. And express in your own way the reasons that inspire you to approve and vote for him.

What is Senator Harding's outlook upon life? It is YOUR OWN.

Read these extracts from one of his recent speeches:

"This government is your government, not that of somebody who is placed in office."

"You clothe us with authority. We are pleased to execute your will. And one reason I want the Republican party in power once more is because we are responsive to the will of the people of the United States and do not try to tell you that what one man thinks is necessary."

No hallucination there, no idea that Harding was made to rule, and YOU, who read this newspaper, made to be ruled, or preached at from above by your own elected servant.

The duty of the American, whether he be President or simple citizen, is not complicated in Mr. Harding's mind. He says:

"As I said at the outset, government is a very simple thing, government is only the regulation of our relationships to one another. The government's first task is the protection of the minority against autocracy, or the domination of the majority that sometimes forgets the rights of the minority."

"I am preaching the gospel of popular representative government in the United States, a government that does not know any class anywhere in all this Republic."

In his speeches and in his daily life, running for the Presidency or running his country newspaper, Senator Harding is just an everyday American neighbor. This is what he says, as he bids farewell to a crowd of friends:

"I am very happy to see you all this morning. As I have said, I want you to know me, and I am delighted to know you. We are going to work together for the good of the United States, and we are going to hold America first in all our thoughts and in all our actions."

Women especially have reason to congratulate themselves on the fact that Senator Harding will be the next President.

Their sons are taken in war. Their husbands and fathers are taxed to pay for war. They spend the lonely hours of dreadful anxiety, while the son is away.

They, above all, are interested in having for President such a man as Senator Harding. He does not believe that foreign powers should be allowed to conscript American boys for war beyond the seas.

He does not believe that a Foreign Council should send to America for men and money to settle wars not of our making.

Senator Harding does not believe that this country should be taxed to finance the ambitions or the land greed of foreign nations, and as he believes, so the earnest men and women of this country believe.

When you cast your vote for Senator Harding, you will vote for YOUR KIND OF MAN, the intelligent, straightforward, unpretentious American citizen. President Harding will be an American President, not an international President.

You will have in the White House a map of constructive mind, a plain American with no dreams of world dominion, but with a settled determination to restore normal conditions and normal prosperity to this country.

After the War.

After a war that has destroyed old conditions, cost many lives, squandered many billions in reckless extravagance and dishonesty, and weakened respect for the Constitution, you need for President a straightforward, constructive American.

And you will have such a man in the White House after the 4th of next March, for after that the President of the United States will be Warren G. Harding, your kind of man, one that you would gladly trust with your own affairs, and the affairs of your country.

Health For Sufferers From Chronic Catarrh

Health Talk No. 9.
(By G. C. DONOHOO, D. C.)

Few things are more unpleasant than catarrh, or more apt to lead to embarrassment.

There is an acute catarrh or cold in the head. The chronic catarrh differs from the acute in that it is more sluggish in character. The mucous discharged into the air passages is thick and yellowish in color. It has a tendency to dry and form in crusts. Breathing is difficult. Often the nose passages become clogged. The breath is bad. The sense of taste and smell is impaired.

Chronic catarrh is due to lack of nervous vitality in the air passages. This caused by pressure upon the spinal nerves that deliver nervous energy to these nasal membranes. Chiropractic adjustments remove this pressure and nature restores health.

Call and have a Spinograph (X-ray plate) made and see for yourself the cause of your poor health.

GAINS 30 POUNDS

"I had been afflicted with catarrh for 21 years. I gave all the physicians who were recommended to me a fair trial. I tried many things, before I tried chiropractic. I was prepared to find it a failure, but my condition cleared and I gained 30 pounds."—J. N. Summers, Chiropractic Research Bureau, Statement No. 1134.

RED CROSS APPOINTS CHAIRMEN OF DRIVE IN GREENE COUNTY

Chairmen have been appointed for the 4th roll call of the Greene Co. Chapter of the Red Cross, to be conducted by the Red Cross in the near future. The plan is to increase the membership of the Chapter, and through the new members, the Chapter will be able to reach those who need aid throughout the county.

Miss Helen Evers is continuing in assisting the physicians in examining school children, in connection with the Red Cross. Examinations are made of the children and in case of operations, Miss Evers assists the physician. Daily calls are made by Miss Evers to different parts of the city.

The number of soldiers assisted by the Red Cross last month numbered 189 office calls and the number needing attention from the local chapter is approximately the same as during the war.

The splendid work of the Red Cross will be further increased by the recent organization of a Xenia township branch, the officers of which have been elected.

The officers elected for the roll call campaign with the townships in their charge are:

Xenia City, North West, Milton McCay, Chas. Adair.

JUNIORS DEFEAT SENIORS 7 TO 0

By the margin of a single touchdown, the Junior class football team defeated the Senior eleven in the second game of the interclass series of Central High School, played at Dods Field Wednesday afternoon.

A forward pass, Boxwell to Pur-

By the victory, the Juniors will meet the Sophomores, who defeated the Freshmen team 15-0, and the deciding game will be probably played Friday afternoon. The lineup:

OHIO FARM TENANTRY SHOWS INCREASE OVER 1910 FIGURES

Chicago, Oct. 28.—The increase in farm tenantry which has become an issue in Kansas, does not appear uniform throughout the central west, according to reports received here from a number of agricultural authorities. While the majority of the several states heard from report an advance, Wisconsin notes no change, owing to the opening of new farms, and Oklahoma declares a decrease. Illinois, Minnesota, Nebraska and Ohio show increases. The situation in the various states named is thus indicated:

Farm tenantry in Ohio will show only a "slight increase" over 1910, in the opinion of A. Q. Falconer, head of the rural economic department at Ohio State University. It will not be more than 5 per cent, he estimates.

Farm tenantry in Oklahoma, has shown a decrease of 7 per cent during the 10 years since 1910, according to figures from each county compiled by H. H. Shultz, federal statistician for the state. In 1910, farm owners made up 45 percent of the tillers of the soil, and renters 55 percent, while now owners represent 52 percent and renters 48 percent. Nearly every section of the state showed a decrease of renters, according to Mr. Shultz, who based his report on returns from all farms in the state, numbering approximately 193,000. Mr. Shultz noted a growing tendency on the part of renters to buy a small tract, from 10 to 20 acres, and rent adjoining land. He said high crop prices have enabled many renters to swing into the owner column.

Farm tenantry increased four per cent in Illinois in the 10 year period from 1909 to 1919, according to figures compiled by the state department of agriculture at Springfield. Tenantry in 1919 was estimated at 45.5 percent.

Farm tenantry in Minnesota is steadily increasing because of the advanced price of farm lands and a hesitancy on the part of many retiring farmers to relinquish title to their lands, according to M. J. Holmberg, state commissioner of agriculture. A material increase in tenantry is reported in the southern counties, where the cost of land is relatively high. In the northern section the increase is not so marked. Mr. Holmberg said, because the land there commands but a comparatively low price and the influx of immigrants is large.

In Nebraska an increase of about 4 percent in tenant-owned farms from 1910 to 1919 is shown in figure supplied by Leo Stuh, secretary of the state department of agriculture.

ORDER TO INSTALL OFFICERS IN FINAL MEETING THURSDAY

Columbus, O., Oct. 28.—Installation of newly elected grand officers will take place at the closing session of the Ohio Grand Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, this afternoon.

BEAUTY CHATS

The troubles of the girl who has blackheads are manifold. If she washes her face with hot water and soap the skin is apt to come out drawn and shiny with a very black pore showing. If she uses cleansing cream it seems only to increase the oil in a skin already too full of it. So whether she tries to dry her skin or to nourish it, the result is sure to look bad.

As it is impossible to get rid of blackheads quickly, the best counsel that can be given is that of patience. But the quickest way to get rid of the obnoxious little blackheads is to use both a drying agent and an oil. The best drying agent is a Special Cleansing powder. The formula of this has been given before. It is made combining

Wheat or cornstarch 2 ounces
Powdered borax, 1 ounce
Almond meal, 1 ounce

This is used with soap, or preferably instead of soap. First wash the skin, holding cloths wrung from hot water over the face until the pores are open; then dip the moist fingertips into this powder and rub it thoroughly into the pores. Moisten the fingers, take some more powder and repeat, as the skin absorbs this very readily. Rinse with hot water.

You will find that the dry powder has absorbed the top of each blackhead so it shows much less plainly. As the powder is drying, rub a little cold cream into the face, and wipe off whatever remains on the surface of the skin. If possible, finish by rubbing with ice, which is one of the best astringents known.

A. M.—If the hair does not tangle by being allowed to hang loosely over the night, that way is much better than braiding, as the scalp has a chance to ventilate. If you must resort to braiding it over night, do it in about four braids and keep them very loose. This can be done by dividing the head into four parts, somewhat of a square, so that two braids are at the top of the head and two at the lower part, then throw all of them over the pillow, so the air can get at the scalp while you sleep. If you sleep without a pillow, as so many people do now, so much the better for your hair.

Disconsolate—I have answered both of your former letters! as there was no request to have them mailed to you, the letters went into the column. You should consult a good doctor about your nerves; you must be in need of a thorough building up. You can help yourself also with your will. Try this method, when you feel these spells coming. Ward them off by taking very slowly a deep breath, hold it as long as comfortable, then allow it to escape as softly as if it were velvet. Repeat this a number of times focusing your mind on this exercise and forget all about the trembling. The fact that you are worse when you are with people or if they are looking at you, shows that you unconsciously let go of yourself. Of course, you are not in the best of health or you would not have these spells, but you can help yourself while the doctor is also doing his part in restoring your nervous system to perfect health.

The Tourist on the Battlefield

Vincent Astor and Wife on Battlefield. Vincent Astor with Field Glasses.

Great Numbers of Americans Will Go To Europe This Year To See the Havoc Wrought by German Guns.

Copyright, 1920, The International Syndicate.

THE battlefields of Europe will be the Mecca of tourists for many years to come; in fact, the steamships are already booked to their capacity. One can hardly imagine the extent of the great devastation that has taken place, and those who have already looked upon it declare that it is so general and complete that it becomes monotonous, and they are glad to see to brighter scenes before they have visited half the area.

It will take a generation to remove all evidences of the great havoc wrought and perhaps some of the damaged places will never be restored. Of course, to have any great appreciation of the immensity of the destruction it was necessary to have visited the scenes immediately after the armistice was signed, for since that time the greater part of the debris on the roads has been removed. This is especially true of France, and there the tourist is welcomed who is willing to put up with some inconvenience. They have used German prisoners for this cleaning up work and now an automobile may travel from city to town in that land in perfect safety.

A Rush Looked For

on his arrival. Food seems to be plentiful and less expensive than in the United States, but sleeping quarters will be limited for this summer at least, and those who are not willing to wait until conditions right themselves a bit will have to put up with inconveniences—and discomfort is distasteful to the American traveler. The French know this and are erecting shacks along the front, and have even gone so far as to put up places very near the American cemeteries, for they also know full well that hundreds of the early comers will be the parents of American boys who died there, and they will come over with the hope of at least looking upon the graves of their loved ones. Whenever possible the bodies were laid to rest in the American cemeteries, yet there are hundreds who were buried where they fell, and as the trenches now being permanently filled in by the German prisoners contain so many bodies that a great number of them will never be located.

Thousands of feet of barbed wire yet remain to be removed. Whole towns were wrecked. This is especially true of Arras, where when the Germans were compelled to evacuate that city, time bombs were placed in the business section and these went off three days after the British came in and this entire portion of the town was destroyed and many lives with it.

Return To Paris At Night
Arrangements have been made to visit many of the battlefields and return to Paris or Brussels at night. This is very unsatisfactory, for the prices are fabulous and then only mere glimpses of the ruins can be given. The average American wants to tramp about the streets and look into the trenches. Of course, for years this will be a dangerous performance for should the visitor strike a "dud" (shell that has not exploded)—it may go off with disastrous results.

There is a special tourist train from Paris to Albert twice a week, and many people are anxious to look upon the great Cathedral at Albert where the Virgin surmounting it has fallen into an inclined position and seems to be holding the Child over the city. Fairly close to this region is Boney, where twenty-five hundred American soldiers are buried, but it is practically impossible to make this trip and return to Paris in one day. This is equally true of Romance, where twenty-two thousand American boys sleep. The Y. M. C. A. has rest houses here.

Chateau Thierry and Montfaucon
Most Americans will want to see Chateau Thierry and Montfaucon, where a great number of our boys died, but so far there is little accommodation there. You see the bare roadside and then the white crosses with their beds of pansies and the Y. M. C. A. rest houses which were built to serve only the relatives of dead soldiers. Just what the tourist who comes to these places out of curiosity this summer will do is a question. At Chateau Thierry there are two hotels. One has glass windows, but the other has a substitute of oiled paper being used over the wrecked ones. These two hotels together will probably accommodate about one hundred persons.

Everybody will want to go to Rheims, but only about two hundred can be taken care of at one time for almost every house in this once beautiful city of one hundred thousand population is in ruins. Even today the hotels there have not a vacant room and visitors are sleeping on chairs and tables.

Soissons and the Argonne Forest, which, by the way, is almost denuded of trees, are also an objective, and many people will stand and gaze in wonder at the shell-torn stumps which will perhaps never grow up. Belleau Woods is in the same condition.

Verdun

Many people who never visited Verdun when it was a city will want to see it now. Vaux has taken on a fresh interest and already the tourists are wandering about in search of souvenirs. The French have been quick to act, and little stands containing postcards and small articles made from battle-field material have been set up. The keepers of these stalls are doing a good business for the American is the great souvenir buyer of the battlefield. At Amiens there are a few really passable hotels, but one must motor out to the front to see the battlefields.

There are those tourists who went year after year to Paris who hunger for that city, which is said to have resumed all its gaiety. This they will find, but many of their old haunts have been taken over by the Government and sleeping quarters are difficult to obtain even in a city of this size. Many thousands of refugees are in Paris—their homes in the smaller cities having been destroyed, and these people, some of whom were well-to-do, have sought to make new homes there. Business has revived, and thousands of Frenchmen have come to the French capital who would otherwise not be there. Demobilized officers of the American Army are still lingering there desiring to have their fling in gay Paris before returning home. Altogether Paris is very much crowded, and nine out of every ten persons want to visit the battlefield once more before returning to America. Much salvage has been collected from the fields and is being sold in the United States.

Looking Down the Main Street of Chateau Thierry

Ruins at Chauny, Aisne District

May Charge Admission
The French Government is seriously considering the charging of an admission fee to the various battlefields, and these will be in great demand.

that the revenue from this source for one year would practically equalize the loss incurred by the fall of the franc on the Exchange. They know that it will make little difference to the sightseer, who will come anyhow, but their greatest worry at present is how to take care of the great multitude which is coming, and the charging has not yet been decided on by the Government. The French people are alive to business and wish to welcome these visitors for they well know the money that will be brought into the country and that it will go far toward making France more prosperous and sound financially.

There is at present a bill before the Chamber of Deputies for the expenditure of $6,000,000 in a camp hotel and a sightseeing automobile service which will include eleven of the devastated cities. Many returned French soldiers are learning to speak English in order that they may act as guides and these will be in great demand.

In Belgium

Brussels, too, is making great preparation for the tourist, for that city was practically unharmed and people will lodge there and make trips to the smaller towns on the battlefield. Liege is, of course, in ruins, but everybody will want to see the great fort that held out so long while the German troops were fairly driven under its guns. Others will want to see the places where the Huns stood half the village against the wall and shot them down, compelling the other half of its inhabitants to bury the dead. Many people will go to Belgium merely through admiration for the Belgians who withstood the onslaught of the Germans so bravely and perhaps saved France a much greater loss.

Mountain Battlefields Of Italy
Italy has some battlefields to show but the majority of these are in the Alps and will be difficult to reach, but the Italian Government is making great preparation to enable tourists to see these places and many Americans who are of Italian descent make an effort to visit their sons who went to fight, lost their lives, prouder of its fighters

Farm tenantry increased four percent in Illinois in the 10 year period from 1909 to 1919, according to figures compiled by the state department of agriculture at Springfield. Tenantry in 1919 was estimated at 45.5 percent. Farm tenantry in Minnesota is steadily increasing because of the advanced price of farm lands and a hesitancy on the part of many retiring farmers to relinquish title to their lands, according to M. J. Holmberg, state commissioner of agriculture. A material increase in tenantry is reported in the southern counties, where the cost of land is relatively high. In the northern section the increase is not so marked. Mr. Holmberg said, because the land there commands but a comparatively low price and the influx of immigrants is large.

In Nebraska an increase of about 4 percent in tenanted farms from 1910 to 1919 is shown in figure supplied by Leo Stuhr, secretary of the state department of agriculture.

Columbus, O., Oct. 28.—Installation of newly elected grand officers will take place at the closing session of the Ohio Grand Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, this afternoon.

BEAUTY CHATS

The troubles of the girl who has blackheads are manifold. If she washes her face with hot water and soap the skin is apt to come out drawn and shiny with a very black pore showing. If she uses cleansing cream it seems only to increase the oil in a skin already too full of it. So whether she tries to dry her skin or to nourish it, the result is sure to look bad.

As it is impossible to get rid of blackheads quickly, the best counsel that can be given is that of patience. But the quickest way to get rid of the obnoxious little blackheads is to use both a drying agent and an oil. The best drying agent is a Special Cleansing powder. The formula of this has been given before. It is made combining:

Wheat or cornstarch, 2 ounces
Powdered borax, 1 ounce
Almond meal, 1 ounce

This is used with soap, or preferably instead of soap. First wash the skin, holding cloths wrung from hot water over the face until the pores are open; then dip the moist fingertips into this powder and rub it thoroughly into the pores. Moisten the fingers, take some more powder and repeat, as the skin absorbs this very readily. Rinse with hot water.

You will find that the dry powder has absorbed the top of each blackhead so it shows much less plainly. As the powder is drying, rub a little cold cream into the face, and wipe off whatever remains on the surface of the skin. If possible, finish by rubbing with ice, which is one of the best astringents known.

Immediately after a "Danderine" massage, your hair takes on new life lustre and wonderful beauty, appearing twice as heavy and plentiful, because each hair seems to fluff and thicken. Don't let your hair stay lifeless, colorless, plain or scraggy. You too, want lot of long, strong, beautiful hair.

A 35-cent bottle of delightful "Danderine" freshens your scalp, checks dandruff and falling hair. This stimulating "beauty- tonic" gives to thin, dull, fading hair that youthful brightness and abundant thickness.—All druggists!

Disconsolate—I have answered both of your former letters! As there was no request to have them mailed to you, the letters went into the column. You should consult a good doctor about your nerves; you must be in need of a thorough building up. You can help yourself also with your will. Try this method, when you feel these spells coming. Ward them off by taking very slowly a deep breath, hold it as long as comfortable, then allow it to escape as softly as if it were velvet. Repeat this a number of times focusing your mind on this exercise and forget all about the trembling. The fact that you are worse when you are with people or if they are looking at you, shows that you unconsciously let go of yourself. Of course, you are not in the best of health or you would not have these spells, but you can help yourself while the doctor is also doing his part in restoring your nervous system to perfect health.

Great Numbers of Americans Will Go To Europe This Year To See the Havoc Wrought by German Guns.

Copyright, 1920, The International Syndicate.

THE battlefields of Europe will be the Mecca of tourists for many years to come; in fact, the steamships are already booked to their capacity. One can hardly imagine the extent of the great devastation that has taken place, and those who have already looked upon it declare that it is so general and complete that it becomes monotonous, and they are glad to flee to brighter scenes before they have visited half the area.

It will take a generation to remove all evidences of the great havoc wrought and perhaps some of the damaged places will never be restored. Of course, to have any great appreciation of the immensity of the destruction it was necessary to have visited the scenes immediately after the armistice was signed, for since that time the greater part of the debris on the roads has been removed. This is especially true of France, and there the tourist is welcomed who is willing to put up with some inconvenience. They have used German prisoners for this cleaning up work and now an automobile may travel from city to town in that land in perfect safety.

A Rush Looked For

The rush of travelers will be very heavy, and the accommodations in hotels are so limited that one writer has suggested that the tourist purchase an automobile and a pup tent

Return To Paris At Night

Arrangements have been made to visit many of the battlefields and return to Paris or Brussels at night. This is very unsatisfactory, for the prices are fabulous and there is only mere glimpse of the ruins can be given. The average American wants to tramp about the streets and look into the trenches. Of course, for years this will be a dangerous performance for should the visitor strike a "dud" (shell that has not exploded)—it may go off with disastrous results.

There is a special tourist train from Paris to Albert twice a week, and many people are anxious to look upon the great Cathedral at Albert where the Virgin surmounting it has fallen into an inclined position and seems to be holding the Child over the city. Fairly close to this region is Boney, where twenty-five hundred American soldiers are buried, but it is practically impossible to make this trip and return to Paris in one day. This is equally true of Romagne, where twenty-two thousand American boys sleep. The Y. M. C. A. has rest houses here.

Chateau Thierry and Montfaucon Most Americans will want to see Chateau Thierry and Montfaucon, where a great number of our boys died, but so far there is little accommodation there. You see the bare roadside and then the white crosses where their beds of pansies and the Y. M. C. A. rest houses which were built to serve only the relatives of dead soldiers. Just what the tourist who comes to these places out of curiosity this summer will do is a question. At Chateau Thierry there are two hotels. One has glass windows, but the other has a substitute of oiled paper being used over the wrecked ones. These two hotels together will probably accommodate about one hundred persons.

Everybody will want to go to Rheims, but only about two hundred can be taken care of at one time for almost every house in this once beautiful city of one hundred thousand population is in ruins. Even today the hotels there have not a vacant room and visitors are sleeping on chairs and tables.

Soissons and the Argonne Forest, which by the way, is almost denuded of trees, are also an objective, and many people will stand and gaze in wonder at the shell-torn stumps which will perhaps never grow up. Belleau Woods is in the same condition.

Verdun

Many people who never visited Verdun when it was a city will want to see it now. Vaux has taken on a fresh interest and already the tourists are wandering about in search of souvenirs. The French have been quick to act, and little stands containing postcards and small articles made from battlefield material have been set up. The keepers of these stalls are doing a good business for the American is the great souvenir buyer of the battlefield. At Amiens there are a few really passable hotels, but one must motor out to the front to see the battlefields.

There are those tourists who went year after year to Paris who hunger for that city, which is said to have resumed all its gaiety. This they will find, but many of their old haunts have been taken over by the Government and sleeping quarters are difficult to obtain even in a city of this size. Many thousands of refugees are in Paris—their homes in the smaller cities having been destroyed, and these people, some of whom were well-to-do, have sought to make new homes there. Business has revived, and thousands of Frenchmen have come to the French capital who would otherwise not be there. Demobilized officers of the American Army are alive to business and wish to welcome these visitors for they well know the money that will be brought into the country and that it will go far toward making France more prosperous and sound financially.

There is at present a bill before the Chamber of Deputies for the expenditure of $8,000,000 in a camp hotel and a sightseeing automobile service which will include eleven of the devastated cities. Many returned French soldiers are learning to speak English in order that they may act as guides and these will be in great demand.

In Belgium Brussels, too, is making great preparation for the tourist, for that city was practically unharmed and people will lodge there and make trips to the smaller towns on the battlefield. Liege is, of course, in ruins, but everybody will want to see the great fort that held out so long while the German troops were fairly driven under its guns. Others will want to see the places where the Huns stood half the village against the wall and shot them down, compelling the other half of its inhabitants to bury the dead. Many people will go to Belgium merely through admiration for the Belgian who withstood the onslaught of the Germans so bravely and perhaps saved France a much greater loss.

Mountain Battlefields Of Italy Italy has some battlefields to show, but the majority of these are in the Alps and will be difficult to reach, but the Italian Government is making great preparation to enable tourists to see these places and many Americans who are of Italian birth will make an effort to visit the spot where their sons who went back to Italy to fight, lost their lives. No nation is prouder of its fighters than Italy.

Colors and the Color Bearer

The Colors Going into Coblenz, Germany

Heroism of the Men Selected To Carry and Care for the Colors.

Copyright, 1920, The International Syndicate.

EVERY picture painted to portray a battle has as one of its most prominent features the bearer of the colors of the regiment. A sentiment hangs around the standard and the one entrusted with its custody as they are symbolic of the patriotism and heroism of the army. The capture of the colors of the enemy is regarded as a signal act of bravery, and on the other hand the loss of the standard arouses a feeling of shame. Many a bloody and hotly contested fight has occurred over the possession of the flag of the other side. The place from which it flies or the location of the colors in the ranks of a regiment is supposed to be an important, if not a vital spot in the arrangement of the forces, and this causes these significant places to be special targets for attack as well as special points to be defended.

Paul Jones

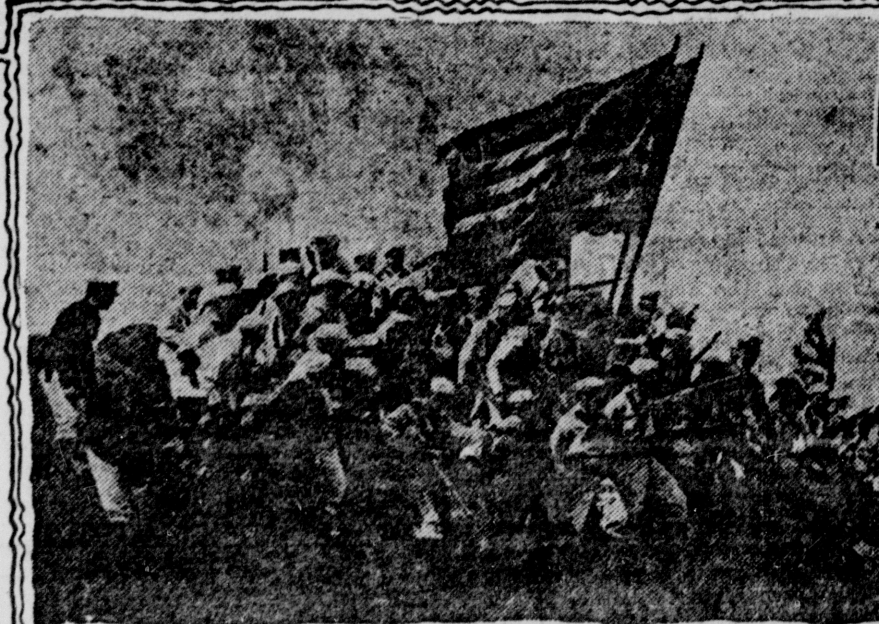

Paul Jones once said: "The flag and I are twins," and true to his words he stayed by the flag, and when the Bon Homme Richard went down with her immortal dead the flag they had so gallantly defended served for their winding sheet—it was not captured by the enemy, but went down with the men, and those who survived declared it to be "a glorious sight."

Women And The Colors

The colors have always been defended by women, and the last pitched battle of the American Revolution was fought by a patriotic American woman and a proven marshal of the English army in her defense of the flag. It seems she kept a boarding house on Murray street near the Hudson River. She was a large, muscular woman and a valiant patriot. In

The Colors Beside the Fleur-de-Lis at Yorktown, 1781

found an echo in General Pershing's words at Lafayette's grave, when he said: "Lafayette, we are here!"

In May of 1812 the State of Massachusetts set up the colors on its schools and gave a remarkable spontaneous proof of fealty. Flags in those days were not so easily obtained and the ones which floated over the Massachusetts school houses had to be spun by hand, yet the women never allowed the colors to be missing. Indeed, they might well be called the color bearers for the children who studied in those log school houses.

It was the sight of the colors still flying from the flagstaff at Fort Mifflin that caused the birth of our immortal "Star-Spangled Banner."

In 1847 more territory was acquired by the colors, for during the Mexican War a great number of people were taken into our glorious country. It was at Chapultepec that Robert E. Lee took charge of the colors of the 8th Infantry, had them borne to the top of the palace, the Mexican flag lowered, and our own Stars and Stripes placed on the flagpole.

Civil War Heroes

Then came the Civil War, and even though the colors at Fort Sumter were fired upon the South loved the flag, and though Old Glory was many times insulted south of Mason and Dixon's line, there was a memory of the time when it was defended by Washington, Greene, Morgan and Andrew Jackson. The South tried to imitate the flag in her new one under which she fought so gallantly, but the Stars and Stripes became the flaming torch of the war for the people of the North, and the color bearer was always surrounded by soldiers whose devotion to the standard became a sort of religion and the heroic struggles around these color bearers in battle have been honored in bronze and marble on almost every battlefield.

At Chickamauga a huge bronze memorial has been raised to the men who fell while carrying the flag of a regiment of Pennsylvania infantry, and the members who are still living will attest to the heroism of those men who died while defending the colors. All the States who engaged in the conflict for the Union at Gettysburg had thrilling tales to tell of the bravery of their color bearers. Wisconsin people are still proud of the work of Meredith's Iron Brigade, the advance guard of the Army of the Potomac, when they met that long column of gray who were fighting for what they thought was right. Nearly a third of the Wisconsin regiment fell before their guns and soon the last color bearers were swept away.

In the ranks of another regiment of the same State was a private—a mere boy, who seized the flag and yelling to his comrades to "come on," rallied the remaining members, and an onslaught was made on the Confederate lines with more or less success.

The men from Michigan came into the fray with the color sergeant bearing aloft the Stars and Stripes. Soon he was bayoneted and the flag in the hands of the enemy, but a young Union man soon pinioned its captor to the ground and the flag was saved and became a rallying point for the men.

We all recall the story of that Minnesota regiment which went into the fight with that gallant color bearer who even when he was dying never let the colors touch the ground, and how they were passed to several men, how they were killed or wounded in turn, and how a corporal alone of the color guard survived and carried Old Glory at the head of the forty-seven men who were left out of the two hundred and sixty-two who went into the fight.

Pennsylvania, always in the foreground in the Civil War, had some heroic color bearers at Gettysburg, and one regiment has honored its color sergeant with a handsome granite monument known as The Fallen Color Bearer, which shows a wounded man on the ground still holding the colors aloft. At the critical moment at the Bloody Angle when Armistead fell, he died with the colors of the Pennsylvania regiment waving over his body.

At Antietam, which was regarded as the bloodiest battle of the Civil War, Pennsylvania has a granite statue to a color bearer of one of her regiments which shows the heroic figure of a man bearing the colors aloft. The flagpole is broken and he holds it by the short stick. This is one of the most imposing of all Antietam's splendid monuments, and stands near a farmhouse which now presents a peaceful pastoral scene of the united nation.

All through the Civil War—at Fredericksburg, at Bull Run, at Vicksburg, at Missionary Ridge, at The Wilderness—in fact, every battle, the records show the great bravery of the color bearer, and the battered, blood-stained relics for which men gave their lives are now prized by the different States. Our battleflags are furlled to come forth no more to a Civil War!

Spanish-American War

In the war with Spain the color bearers' history naturally centers around the Rough Riders. This regiment was composed of men whose fathers had fought on each side in the Civil War, but they went to Cuba united under the Stars and Stripes, and though at Las Guasimas four bullet holes went through the silk flag the regiment's color bearer carried it aloft until the end of the war.

The Late War

When we entered the late war against Germany each regiment had its color bearers appointed, and although they were not carried into battle the flags of the regiments were well taken care of and used in parade. Many of our boys tied small flags to their bayonets when they went "over the top," and it is said that many kissed the emblem before they died. When the Tuscania was torpedoed all the bodies of her dead that were recovered were buried abroad in Old Glory.

One of the proudest moments the color bearer has ever known was when he carried the flag high in that great fourth of July parade in Paris. All the Allies were represented, and Americans marched past cheer after cheer, and the air for the French knew that the entrance of the United States into the war spelled defeat for Germany.

Again the colors were destined to great honors when the color bearer bore them into Coblenz, where they still fly over our headquarters. The American doughboy has a strange, deep, indescribable love for these colors. It is unknown to one who has never been in active service, but, of course, all Americans have a real affection for the colors and a pride in the fact that they have never been trailed in defeat.

NOTORIOUS CRIMINALS CAPTURED IN BANK HOLDUP

Bandits killed and wounded. "Jiggs" Losteiner, at left; Albert Joyce, center, and Harry Stone, right. Below, picture of bank, scene of holdup. Arrows point to bullet holes in bank window and riddled windshield of bandits' car. Six bullets were fired through the windshield within a six-inch circle.

Eight bandits, at least three of whom boasted of long criminal records, attempted to "make a haul" of $50,000 at the Bedford, O., branch bank of the Cleveland Trust Company. An alarm system connecting the bank with nearby stores, warned neighboring store keepers. These men, armed heavily, met the bandits as they left the bank and in the battle that followed "Jiggs" Losteiner and Harry Stone were wounded and captured and Albert Joyce, another gunman, was killed. A fourth bandit also was captured.

With The Women of Today

The Hampstead Garden Suburb Trust, Ltd., was founded after an article by Mrs. O. H. Barnett had been published in the "Contemporary Review" of February, 1905. Today, after fifteen years, Mrs. Henrietta Octavia Barnett is in this country to tell us about her very successful plan which has been flourishing for fifteen years and which has paid subscribers a straight five percent dividend.

The object of the Garden Suburb was "to place within the reach of members of the industrial classes the opportunities of taking a cottage with a garden where the family labor would produce vegetables, fruit and flowers, and add to health and pleasure to promote a better understanding between various classes by arranging that people live on the same estate and to preserve all natural beauty, and so to lay out the ground that every tree might be kept and the buildings kept in harmony with the surroundings."

Madame Barnett, who is now known as one of England's experts on housing conditions, is touring this country and telling of her solution which has proved so successful. At first people said it could not be done, but today the government is modeling its villages on these lines.

There are about 2,000 houses in Hampstead garden, now, housing about 10,000 people. Each house has a garden and a bathroom. The most expensive rent is about seven dollars a week and the cheapest is about sixty cents per week.

According to Mrs. Barnett, the essentials of a home are: Space for air and space for sunshine, a place for rest, interest and hope.

Madame Barnett founded the children's fresh air camp in 1877, the first settlement house in London in 1886 and was the first woman ever appointed by the government as guardian of the poor. With her husband, Canon Barnett of Westminster Abbey, she lived forty-three years among London's poor in the Whitechapel district. Her model suburb is five miles from Charing Cross. The infant mortality rate in the White chapel and other poorer districts of London is 165 death per 1,000 children yearly. In the Hampstead garden suburb the rate is 11.2 per 1,000. The figures are significant of what can be done when children are given a chance.

The ULTONA—a scientific Brunswick creation—is universal in adaptation and simple in structure. It plays all records infinitely better. It is not a makeshift contrivance nor so-called combination attachment, but a patent that involves genuine fundamental principles of sound.

With but a slight turn of the hand, it presents the proper needle and diaphragm to any make record.

Every artist, every band, every selection, whether foreign or American, may be played at its best on The Brunswick.

Brunswick PHONOGRAPHS AND RECORDS

No other phonograph in the world can give you the ULTONA.

This new feature, together with the acoustically perfect amplifier or tone chamber—built of wood on the violin principle—not only enables the Brunswick owner to choose his music from ALL the world's great libraries, but to actually PLAY them ALL BETTER.

Come, and find out for yourself. Just you HEAR The Brunswick.

RAIN WELCOMED BY FARMERS OF COUNTY

This week's rain is very favorable to the crops in this part of the county, the corn and wheat needing it very badly, according to County Agent Ford S. Prince. Shocked corn was very dry and the wheat was not growing well, before the much wanted rain. The slow rain is more beneficial to the crops than a heavy one would be, for in some places the ground was so dry that the wheat failed to grow and the present kind of rainfall has an effect that is longer lasting to the ground. It is hoped, however, that the rain will not continue much longer, for too much rain has an equal bad effect on wheat and corn.

YOUR DRUGGIST

Those important soft little woolens—they need the most delicate laundering there is

His wool things, so silly small they look like make-believe, are very real to him—there must not be a single scratchy shirt, nor one shrunken band in his whole wardrobe!

Every night they're gathered up and tossed into a big bowlful of the gentle Lux suds. Then just sousing, and pressing of the rich suds through the very soiled spots.

There's no matting and no shrinking because there's not a bit of rubbing to hurt the fine wool fibres.

Let Lux keep all his tiny wool things soft and sweet. Your grocer, druggist or department store has Lux.—Lever Bros. Co., Cambridge, Mass.

No suds so wonderful for dainty baby things

To keep his woolens soft and unshrunk

Whisk two tablespoonfuls of Lux into thick lather in bowlful of hot water. Add cold water until lukewarm. Squeeze suds through. Do not rub or twist.

Rinse in three lukewarm waters. Squeeze water out. Dry in moderate temperature; press with warm iron.

ONCE EVERY WEEK THAT'S ALL I ASK

It's old fashioned, of course, but the old-fashioned people who believe in herbs are healthier than the wise children of today. If you want happiness first find health—my pure herb medicine will gently regulate the bowels, stimulate the liver, flush the kidneys, sweeten the stomach and enrich the blood. Your health will begin to improve at once. All I ask is that you take it once or twice a week. My Bulgarian Blood Tea is the favorite family medicine in millions of happy homes today. Physicians recommend it, and it is well to remember that Bulgarian Blood Tea taken steaming hot at bed time kills colds. Guard against influenza and pneumonia. Just ask your druggist today. Respectfully, H. H. Von SCHLICK, President, Marvel Products Co., Pittsburgh, Pa.

MRS. JOHN POLITICS—CONTINUES CASE UNTIL DECEMBER 15 IN LOCAL COURT

Chapter VI
"We'll now," said Mr. Politics, "I think you are getting off the subject somewhat. Do you mean to give me the impression that all the temperance issue we have is simply the question of 'wet' and 'dry' candidates?"

"Oh no, John, I am coming to that now. Really the most important thing confronting us temperance voters is the question of approval of House Bill number 620. You see, we do not have the proper law in Ohio to enforce Prohibition. We have to depend largely upon federal officers and the federal courts to enforce the law. There are sufficient violations of the temperance laws in Cincinnati alone to keep the federal officers located there busy all the time and they have a number of counties under their management. The federal courts are being clogged with liquor cases so that they cannot properly function. However, last year there was collected in Ohio alone more than half a million dollars in fines, and this money went into federal treasury. If the voters approve House Bill 620 by voting YES on the lit ball of which you have seen a sample, we will then have proper law to back up our local officers and courts in enforcing Prohibition and then the fines will go into the state and County Treasury where they belong."

"The 'wets' are trying hard to defeat this bill and every temperance person and tax payer should be sure to vote in favor of House Bill 620 by putting an X at the left of the word YES."

"Well, well," said Mr. Politics, "I did not know that the temperance issue was so important and it seems to me that any voter ought to vote YES on House Bill 620, and I shall certainly not forget about it when going to the polls; but there is one thing that I particularly want to know, and that is, 'What is your authority for condemning my party's candidate for Governor?'"

"Well, if that is what you want," his wife replied, "I can very easily give it. When I attended the W. C. T. U. convention at Cleveland I certainly found out a plenty about him, but I shall not attempt to give you all of it now. It seems to me absolutely sufficient to simply name three of the organizations that have recently come out against him: the Ministerial Association of Cleveland, the Cuyahoga County W. C. T. U. and the W. W. C. A. That ought to be sufficient to settle the question with anyone wanting to vote right."

"His opponent is a Christian, and though he may not be as active as he should be yet he has a good record has proven himself honest and efficient in office, and has come out four square for the enforcement of Prohibition Law, even to the removal of officials who fail to do their duty."

"Well, wife I confess I did not know all this. I had heard a great deal but paid little attention to it as I had expected to vote a straight ticket."

"This is just the trouble with so many of you men. You do not go to the right source to get reliable information. I have not found out about all the candidates etc., that I want to know myself but I am going to Dry Headquarters, 26 S. Detroit St., Xenia, as soon as I can and find out. They will give you ballots marking the 'wet' and 'dry' candidates on the State and Judicial tickets outside the county. They try to be fair to all parties although, as might be expected, they are accused of a great many things and if you will trace these stories down you will find them only to be political propaganda. Just think of it! They are telling around that the County W. C. T. U. is making speeches for Cox and telling the women to vote for him. She says, and our County Manager verifies the fact that those stories are absolutely false. I know they are myself, for I have heard her say more than once that as a Christian woman she could not and would not vote for either of the leading candidates this fall."

FISHING SCHOONERS IN RACE

Captain Martin L. Welch and the Esperanto, which he will pilot as the American entry in the first international race between fishing schooners, the pick of the Nova Scotia and Gloucester fishing fleets. The event will be held off Halifax on October 30 and will be sailed daily, the best two out of three deciding the race. The contestants must be bona fide fishermen with at least a year's experience on the Banks. The course is to be forty miles, triangular, with one race to windward or leeward, if possible. Great interest has been aroused in the unique classic, and it is probable the event will be made an annual one. The Esperanto is being rapidly prepared for the event, which will be a real deep sea race, with the vessels manned by real deep sea fishermen.

HEART AND HOME PROBLEMS

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am the mother of eight children. One of my daughters is fourteen years old and crazy about the boys. At first I would not allow her to go with them because she was so young, but she would slip off and go with anyone, so I consented to her going once in a while, providing I knew where she was going and with whom.

Now I can't trust her out of my sight. She flirts and waves and attracts the attention of every boy she meets, will get into autos and go riding with anyone, especially strangers. She won't mind unless I make her. I am not well and can't stand to get nervous and excited.

She paints her cheeks and lips and blacks her eyebrows and looks ridiculous. I get so ashamed I don't know what to do, but I simply can't make her stop. I have talked to her as only a mother can, cried, pleaded, done everything, but nothing seems to do any good.

There is no use asking her father's help, for he doesn't seem to realize what it means. He is one of the kind who thinks the sooner she starts the sooner she will be married, and he won't have to clothe and feed her. She has nice clothes and doesn't have to work. She is in high school and is an extra good scholar.

I have four children married and never had the least bit of trouble with them. If you can give me any advice I will certainly appreciate it.

WORN OUT MOTHER.

Your daughter is in a most perilous position, as you realize. To forbid her to follow her inclinations and to punish her for misconduct might lead to her leaving home and going bad. On the contrary, to let her have her own way without punishment for misconduct will not check her or prevent her from going wrong.

I believe the girl should be restricted and severely punished.

You did not begin soon enough to exert your authority and therefore it will be difficult now to take an upper hand. The longer you wait, however, the harder it will be for you to gain control.

Whatever you do, keep fear out of your mind. When you punish have faith in yourself and in the outcome of what you do. To start with, talk the matter over with your daughter and let her present her point of view. Then tell her that you have her interests at heart and insofar as you consider it advisable you will respect her opinion, but where you believe she is not right she will have to accept your decision until she is of legal age to do otherwise.

You might try an allowance system. Give your daughter seventy cents a week for spending money; if you consider seventy cents too much make the amount whatever you feel is right. Each day that she does not obey you deduct ten cents from the allowance. I believe she will make the effort to earn the full amount. Never threaten to do a thing without carrying it out. When you decide that she should not have the money, tell her she cannot. Do not leave any loopholes. She will respect you more if you are firm.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I would be very much pleased if you could give me the name or address of some reliable firm from which I could get sewing to do at home. I would prefer children's or women's every-day clothes or any kind of plain sewing. THANK YOU.

Firms do not make a practice of sending out sewing. It is done in the factory or in alteration rooms. I doubt very much if you could get work such as you desire. The only thing for you to do is to advertise for work, put a sign on your house, or call at different homes and see if you can get sewing to take home. You would probably find the last way the best.

"JUST A GIRL"

BY JANE PHELPS

PLANS FOR A WEDDING

Chapter 154

Jennie Willcox had left the office, and a new girl was installed in her place. She was to be married in a month and had to do what she could to procure a modest trousseau. Mother helped her. It came about like this. I took Jennie home to dinner, and she was bemoaning the fact that she had no one to help her select even the little her modest savings would allow her to buy. Jennie was very independent, and would accept nothing from Mr. Betts.

"You can buy me all you want to after we are married. But no man, not even you, is going to buy me clothes, as long as I sign myself 'Miss,'" she had told him when he urged her to let him help her.

Mother was so pleased with Jennie's independence that both she and Aunt Susan did all they could for her in that month preceding her marriage. Not only did they shop with her, but Aunt Susan gave her many recipes and showed her how to cook several plain dishes. Of course, Jennie had to be at our flat to do this, and the poor girl was so grateful it was pitiful.

"It is almost like having a mother of my own," Jennie was an orphan—she declared one day. "I just can't help feeling happy when I am here."

She had told Mr. Betts and he was delighted, and thanked me over and over for our kindness to her. He sent Mother a lovely big basket of delicious fruit and also wrote and thanked her and Aunt Susan for what they had done for Jennie.

It wasn't all one-sided by any means. It had been good for Mother to have Jennie to fuss over. She had forgotten or had not time to be depressed, for that entire month. She and Aunt Susan made several little dainty articles for Jennie, things beyond her modest purse, to buy ready made. Of course, we were all to see them married. Then mother made her suggestion to me, and I wondered I had not thought of it myself.

"How would you like to have Jennie married here?" she asked.

"Really, Mother? Why it would be just marvelous!—that is, if it won't make too much work for you and Aunt Susan."

"Indeed, it will not!" Aunt Susan broke in. "The poor motherless child. Why, I can hardly keep from crying, she is so grateful for every little thing. A Chicago rooming house isn't much of a home, is it?"

"No, indeed, it isn't Aunt. I tried it long enough to know. And Mrs. Fagin was an exceptional landlady too."

I thought Jennie would make herself ill she cried so terribly when Mother asked her if she would like to be married in our little flat and have just a simple little breakfast. They were to be married at 1 o'clock and take the 1:30 train for New York.

"It would be just like heaven," she sobbed. "I never thought I could be married in a real home like other girls."

"Come, now, stop crying and we'll make a list of those we are to invite," I said as I tried to soothe her. "There's Tom and Mary, Mr. Betts and you, and oh, you must have Bob"—the office boy—"he never would forgive you or Mr. Betts either if he wasn't invited. And who else, Jennie?"

"Mr. Betts' brother, and one girl friend who has been good to me ever since I was old enough to work. And Mr. Claxton—we ought to ask him, don't you think?"

"Yes, you must ask him. Of course," Aunt Susan broke in. "I think his feelings would be hurt if you didn't. Then he seems to like my cooking and as I am to cook the wedding breakfast I want him to come. I like that young man."

"That settles it," I laughed, and Aunt was so comical that Jennie laughed with me. Then after hugging both Mother and Aunt until they begged for mercy we planned all the details of the wedding, even going so far as to write the notes of invitation. We were a very happy, excited group when Mr. Betts came to take Jennie home, and he had to be told all we had planned.

I thought for a moment he was going to cry, too. But he simply gulped once or twice and said he didn't know how he was going to repay us for all we were doing.

"We are simply paid in the joy we get out of it," I told him.

Tomorrow—The Wedding

Is It Yours

THIS IS THE BIRTHDAY OF HENRY III (Romg)
October 28, 1917

Henry III, surnamed The Black, Roman Emperor, was born in the country near the Rhine, in 1017. He was crowned German King, which in those days of Germany's supremacy priority in the movement of bituminous coal to Lake Erie ports for transshipment to the northwest were suspended indefinitely yesterday by the interstate commerce commission.

Demand for coal at the lake ports for transshipment is now less than at any time since the orders were entered on July 20, the commission stated, with extensive accumulations of coal at those ports and a large volume en route. Production of coal and car supply have been considerably increased the commission added and are now believed adequate to take care of the Northwest without the priority order.

In the central territory, however, the commission declared there was a shortage of coal for domestic use for which transportation must be supplied before cold weather sets in. The suspension of the northwest order, the statement added, "should enable the mines and railroads to take care of the central territory promptly and fully, and will make more fluent the movement of traffic throughout this territory and also enhance the general car supply."

The commission pointed out that since Oct. 15, it had not been necessary to issue a coal priority order for any public utility or institution, as the needs of these agencies have been taken care of out of current car supply. Withdrawal of the northwest order leaves in force only the general priority of coal over all other traffic moving in coal cars, and about 170,000 cars have been especially released from that order for movement of building and road materials and certain perishables, such as sugar beets.
